Those Frosh Caps

Come to think about it we almost wish that we were frosh again. And we came to that conclusion after seeing these new beanie hats that all the new students are going to wear. It only goes to show that we don't appreciate privileges when we have them.

Over our desk we can gaze into the future of the next few weeks and see the halls of our institution dotted with these caps. Yes, and we can see also some revolting frosh being entreated by no uncertain terms by the sophomores on the job to put back that little cap pronto.

Oh yes, these opening days will not be without excitement—and not without a real showing of real Don spirit, in spite of the numerous black and blue spots.

A Real College

It does seem funny, but the hardest thing we have to contend with in this college is the problem of making the incoming students realize that Santa Ana junior college is as much a college as any four year institution. For this reason you will hear much about this during your first weeks of school, mentioned in speeches, in editorials in the Don, and from other sources in general.

One thing you must realize and obey—the fact that this college is a separate and distinct unit from the high school. It is true that because of financial reasons we must be on the same campus, but we are in no way connected. The sooner you realize this fact, the sooner will your idea of college life materialize.

We, who have been in S. A. college life materialize. J. C. for a year are jealous of the privilege of having a separate faculty, separate assemblies, and separate buildings, and any freshman who wants to get into hot water let him try and ignore our unwritten law.

About Frosh Week

When talking to incoming freshmen we have found that they do not seem to realize the importance of these three freshman days. It is true that there will be a fine for not being present but that is not what is so important. Many things will be offered in these days that will be necessary to know before you can begin a successful college career. It is better to learn them now and let the other fellow sweat later on.

For all practical purposes school begins today for all freshmen. To attend the first class in your subjects is no more important than being present to hear about the school to which you are to be attached for two years.

But even so, no matter how much we blow about it there are a few who still turn their backs on good advice. It is hoped that the two dollar fine will make them come to their senses.

Varied Social Life Enjoyed In J. C.

Faculty Reception Starts Off Year of Dances, Parties, And Mixers

There is a time to work and there is a time to play. A student's intellectual life must be well balanced by social life and therefore Santa Ana junior college has developed a fine social life for its students.

Tradition gives to the faculty the honor of giving the first social event of the year. This is the faculty-student reception, given on the first Friday after school opens. At this time the students are given a fine chance to become socially acquainted with their faculty.

The Y. M. - Y. W. mixer is true to its name for it truly breaks the ice and mixes old and new students. Hilarious contests and games, eats and general spirit of informality characterize the second great event of the year.

College Sponsors County Fair Booth

For the first time in its history Santa Ana junior college is operating a booth at the Orange County Fair.

The booth is decorated with scarlet and black. Pictures from the Art Department and fiesta posters are on display. Copies of the "Don" and school pamphlets will be handed to visitors.

Various other features to make booth very attractive are being arranged by Harold Watson, Adelaide Mueller, Ray Lindman and Willard White who are in charge.

Scarlet And Black Used In New Ideas

Proving the worth of our new colors, chosen last year, several new ideas are appearing on the campus using the colors as a basis. Prominent among these are the new tire covers and sophomore blazers.

The tire covers are the original idea of Willard White and Leonard Morris, prominent sophomores. The background is scarlet with the school seal painted on in black. These tire covers are very striking and many students have placed their orders for them. It is hoped that they will prove good advertising agents for the college. Orders may be given to Willard White or Leonard Morris.

The Sophomore Blazers in scarlet and black are another new idea appearing on the campus. Only sophomores will be allowed to wear them. The blazers may be secured at Hill and Carden.

Treasurer Urges Sale Of Tickets

Harold Watson Points Out Benefits S. B. Tickets To Incoming Frosh

That the life of Santa Ana College is centered around the Associated Student Body and that it is highly important that every student belong to that body was the fact strongly emphasized today by Harold Watson, student body treasurer. Watson further pointed out that it is absolutely essential this year that the students give their utmost cooperation in supporting the student body, in order that student activities can receive the proper and immediate attention necessary to their success.

It is found that to the incoming Freshmen must the purchase of a student body ticket be especially emphasized. This ticket, costing $8.00, entitles the student to participate in any of the activities under the jurisdiction of the association, and unless a student holds a student body ticket, he is not permitted to engage in any activity under the direction of the associated students who sponsor all activities which concern the student body as a whole; including athletics, forensics, publications, social life and weekly assembly programs. Membership in this organization not only permits the student to participate in the activities of the school, but also admits him to all league games and contests and to all social affairs given by the association. ## Campus Y. M. C. A. Edits Frosh Bible

On Friday of this week the freshmen will be given the official Frosh Bible. This book is complimentary of the Student Y. M. C. A. and is edited each year by that organization.

This book serves as a guide to the new students, telling them about the academic, scholastic, social, and athletic activities of the college.

True to school colors the handbook will make its appearance in scarlet and black this year.

The Freshman are requested by student leaders to read this book carefully because it tells of student body, in order that student activities be properly conducted.

Tradition requires that every freshman faithfully carry a Frosh Bible for the first week of school. The freshmen are advised to remember this for the sophomores have made it their duty that this tradition is obeyed.

The handbook has been edited by George Butler, vice-president of the student body and Sterling Barnett, president of the Y. M. C. A.

Message of Welcome

As the Junior College opens for its fourteenth year it is a pleasure to extend to every student, both new and old, a most cordial welcome. In our College the personal equation has ever been a most important factor.

D. K. HAMMOND

Our faculty aims to teach "students" not "subjects". Consequently it will be a real joy for teachers to see again familiar faces and to renew happy relations in and outside of the class-room. I am sure that those who are now making our acquaintance will soon feel the hospitable spirit of our organization and will enter courageously into the varied phases of our college life. May we carry into our work and play something of the pioneering spirit, the loyalty to ideals, the devotion to duty and the friendliness which characterized the Dons of the early days in California.

Traditions

It must be realized that Santa Ana junior college is as comparatively a young institution, and because it is such it has not many firm and established traditions. Many colleges, in their early stages have pushed into existence numerous traditions which are without reason and are not the natural outgrowth of the event of the institution. In other words they are attempting to gain in a year or so things that take a quarter of a century under ordinary conditions.

We, in S. A. J. C., have made no such mistake. However, we have some very vital traditions which, because of their newness, need whole-hearted support from every student.

Last year we were fortunate enough to have two important events meet with such success as to merit them being made annual traditions. And it is necessary that in the second year they be supported with even greater enthusiasm in order to firmly establish them in the annals of the institution.

Therefore the leaders of the college wish to impress upon the school as a whole and especially on the entering freshmen the necessity of supporting the annual Spanish Fiesta and the annual Shakespearian play.

Both are the kind of traditions that this school desires; both deserve the whole-hearted support of every student in bothe deserve the whole-hearted support of every student in Santa Ana college.

Other traditions you will meet as you go through this coming year. Some you are meeting now in the form of the freshman days and luncheons; others you will meet in the next few weeks in the form of the faculty reception and the "Y" mixer. All the year will be filled with such events as these that can make this a real, up-to-date, live college, and they will if you, the members of the student body, wish to make them each a success.

Retail Management Course, Based On Co-operative Plan, Offered In J. C.

Miss Myers to Teach New Venture in College Work

One of the most important of the new courses offered this year in Santa Ana College is the two year curriculum in Retail Management. Many students are reported to have signified their intentions of taking this work.

The course is based on the co-operative plan, the system of having the students go to school a week and work a week in the stores of the city. Many business establishments have promised to back the venture in giving the students work.

Two full year courses are offered, and students enrolled are allowed no outside electives. Classes in English, selling problems, store system, hygiene, display, advertising, marketing, and lettering are among those offered in the first year's work. The second year's work consists of more advanced courses along the same line.

According to present plans Miss Dicie Myers will have charge of the new department. Students who are interested in retail business as a profession should confer with Dean Fisk or Miss Myers at once.

College Students Edit Daily Paper

Publishing a daily paper has been the experience for the journalism and printing classes of the junior college and high school. Fair Fax, the official newspaper of the Orange County Fair is the paper in question.

Under the direction of T. E. Williams, college printing instructor, the group covers the fair each day, writes and edits the material, and distributes the papers on the fair grounds.

The sheet operates a booth on the fair grounds, given through the courtesy of the Farmers and Merchants Bank.

Figures Indicate Worth of College

To disprove the idea that all Santa Ana college students come from Santa Ana high school, Dean Fisk quoted figures to prove otherwise.

Only forty percent of the enrolled student body of Santa Ana junior college were ever a student at Santa Ana high school. Ten percent are found to come from Orange while other high schools in the county also send good percentages.

It is remarkable that over ten percent of the students come from outside the state, showing that Santa Ana is known afar. Students from nearly every state in the union are found each year registered for instruction.

Press Club Starts Activities of Year

The Press Club, the campus journalism organization, begins active work tomorrow, according to Adelaide Meller, club president, when it acts as one of the hosts at the freshman luncheon.

The Press Club is said to be the most influential organization on the campus because it is made up of those people who weekly write for the Don, and who compile the Angel, the annual of the college.

Membership in this organization is obtained by working on the staff of some college publication. During the year the club members take trips to study city newspapers, hear speakers of note in the journalism field, and indulge in parties at the beach and at the homes of its members. The college year is concluded with an annual banquet.

Those interested in journalistic work and in the club should see Adelaide Mueller or Ray Lindman, editor of the Don, who will arrange for them to do the work necessary for admission.

Dates

REMEMBER THESE DATES

To begin the year correctly Freshmen, you must remember these dates and do all in your power not to miss out on them. These parties are all planned for your benefit and your attendance will repay all efforts in your behalf.

The first event is the Faculty Student reception in the "Y" Hut on the evening of Sept. 4. You feel better acquainted if you come to this reception and see how graciously the faculty extend to you new comers the right hand of welcome.

The following Monday, Sept. 17, the Y. M. and Y. W. will be hosts to the Freshmen and by means a snappy games and contests and good eats and splendid fellowship make you feel better acquainted.

Oct. 6 the Sophomores welcome the Freshmen at the first dance of the year. Willard White, Sophomore president, will be in charge of this affair and according to all plans this dance will be one long to be remembered.

Remember these events and watch for others which are being planned to make you feel better acquainted.

O. K.'s For Benefit Of Outside Studes

Last year, for the benefit of the students living away from home, the college O. K. club was started. This year the club is planning to become better organized and to give worthwhile service to these students.

The O. K. club hold several parties throughout the year at homes of teachers and students interested in the project.

The club is open to all who are living away from home, and such students are urged to join.

Coach Bill Cook Predicts Champion
Team For J. C.; Many Stars Entering

Santa Ana High Sends Group

Football prospects for the coming year look exceptionally bright for Santa Ana College, according to Coach Bill Cook. Cook said today that he was certain the team would advance far in the league contests.

Lettermen from last year's team, that copped third in the league, who are returning included Don Woodington, captain; Maurice "Red" Guyer, flashy half-back; Luke Davis, star full-back; Harry "Pop" Weaverling, brick-wall guard; Jack Casey, tackle; Lynn Hafer, end; Keith Farrar, guard; and Art Stein, guard. Other stars of last year's squad who now do not plan to enter the college this year, may change their plans, it is rumored.

New material that even a large university would fight to get is reported to be safely assured to the college. The two outstanding are Jimmy Musick, Santa Ana high star; and Middlestedt, the Long Beach back that was the sensation of the Coast League for three years. These two men coupled with Guyer and Davis should make by far the strongest backfield that Santa Ana has ever had.

Other new material is entering in the form of Reginald "Reg" Rust, star half-back of last year's Santa Ana high team; and a dozen of his varsity team mates. Anaheim high is sending several of their last year's squad, while Huntington Beach and Orange players have also signified their intentions of entering the institution.

As a new addition to the coaching staff Jeff Cravath, All-American center from U. S. C., will assist Bill Cook in the training.

Nothing certain about the rumored trip to Hawaii has developed to date, although the fact that Santa Ana may have the chance has no doubt influenced many players to choose the college in preference to other institutions.

Varied Social Life
Enjoyed In J. C.

Soon after the mixer the first student body function is given and tradition has established this to be a beach party. Good eats, swimming, games, singing, and general fun are found at this party for all who attend. It is followed up with several other beach parties presented later in the year.

Dancing is always a favorite amusement with college students and Santa Ana does not lack her share. The first hop of the year is the sophomore dance to the freshmen. The frosh return the courtesy during the second semester.

The Christmas dance is probably the outstanding social event of the year. At this time the alumni are home on vacations and the affair serves to renew old friendships. Surrounded with the atmosphere of the holiday season, it is always long to be remembered.

The Spanish fiesta is not altogether social. It combines all features of college life. However, many social events are included, such as a Spanish ball luncheons, dinners, afternoon dances, and receptions.

The end of the year, of course, is filled with events in honor of the graduating class and to end the year's activities. The most outstanding feature is the college banquet. It serves as a climax to all previous events. At this time the new student body officers are introduced and formally given office.

It is true that Santa Ana has much better organized social life than other institutions of its kind. The above list shows a variety of events and one that students should appreciate by attending.

Jeff Cravath, former U. S. C. varsity captain, who is now coaching there, will help Coach Bill Cook with the football squad for the first few days. Linesmen will get some very good instruction as Jeff made the All-American as center.

Course Is Offered
In Advanced Drama

Due to the success of the Shakesperian production of the college last year when they presented "Taming of the Shrew", it is the general opinion of the student body that this should be made an annual affair. With this end in view Ernest Crozier Phillips, drama director, has arranged for an advanced class this coming year to work on another Shakesperian production.

The class is to be a three unit subject, meeting on Tuesdays and Thursdays for an hour and a half. The subject is open to those who have completed the first year course of dramatic work, but entering students who have had previous stage experience will be allowed to join with the permission of Phillips.

The play has not been chosen, but it is reported that "Macbeth" is being considered.

Added To Faculty

Four new teachers will be added to the college teaching staff for the coming year, according to Dean Fisk.

Miss Zina Leck will be the new addition to the physical educational department in place of Miss Anderson. Miss Marry Batten will teach courses in music, the addition being made on account of the new offerings in that subject.

The new course in retail management that is attracting so much attention will be taught by Miss Dicie Myers, according to reports from D. K. Hammond, president of the college.

Miss Dawson, popular teacher of home economics is taking a leave of absence this year having left this week for the Orient on a trip around the world. In her place Miss Myrtle Hurt will teach the classes in this department.

Many New Classes Are Added
To College Curriculum

Two new courses not in the catalogue are to be offered to college students this year, according to Dean Fisk. Fisk said that although they were not listed they would be open to any student interested.

The physical education department will offer a course in the principles of physical education as a two unit course. The subject is open to both men and women, and is offered for the benefit of those majoring in this department. Laboratory work will consist of coaching in the city's elementary schools. The course will be taught by Mr. Scott.

A course in physiology will be taught by Miss Conkle. It will be a one semester course in the study of the principles of the human body.

Many new courses are being offered for the first time this year. Among these are a course in advanced drama, retail management, a two unit course in mathematics, two new courses in music, and two in geology.
